

GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE DOLLINGS CASE

ATTORNEY GENERAL LESH, IN HIS REPORT, EXPRESSES OPINION THAT LAWS OF INDIANA HAVE BEEN VIOLATED, BY CONCERN—MANY WEEKS SPENT BY INVESTIGATORS IN PROBING ACTIVITIES OF COMPANY IN STATE—MAY HOOSIERS ARE INVESTORS

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 15.—Grand jury investigation of the operations in Indiana of the R. L. Dollings Company and subsidiary concerns is recommended in a report of the companies which has been submitted to Governor McCray by Attorney General U. S. Lesh it was learned yesterday.

It is understood that the attorney general expressed the opinion that the laws of Indiana have been violated in the Dollings transactions.

The report of Mr. Lesh has not yet been made public but official action based on its recommendations is expected soon, it was said. The attorney general investigated the Dollings activities in Indiana on request of Governor McCray after it was reported that millions of dollars had been sunk in the companies by Hoosier investors. Special investigators of the state legal department spent several weeks making a thorough probe of the operations of the companies in this state.

Harold Taylor, attorney for Bert McBride, who is receiver for the R. L. Dollings Company of Indiana and several of its subsidiary corporations, expressed much surprise when he learned that Attorney General Lesh had recommended a grand jury investigation.

The last report which he had from attorney general's office he said indicated that nothing illegal had been found in connection with the Dollings operations in Indiana. He added that he had taken it for granted there would be no further action.

So far as investigations of the receiver and his assistants are concerned, Mr. Taylor said, the Indiana officials of the Dollings companies were merely puppets obeying implicitly orders coming from the Dollings officials in Ohio. All plans for the organization of companies also apparently came from Ohio he said.

Audits and reports made here, he said indicated the local Dollings operatives had obeyed their orders in good faith. In addition to this the Ohio Dollings company owes the Indiana concerns large sums of money.

The Central Broadcasting Station, New York City gave the fight together with preliminary fights, blow by blow. The reproduction was so perfect that the cheering of the crowd, the announcement by the announcer, the counting by the referee, when either of the fighters was down, the starting gong and in fact everything connected with the fight could be heard. Announcements of the fight, blow by blow, together with the between round comment on the fight and crowd were so vivid that the "listeners in" could literally see the entire event.

Indiana ranks second of all the states in the number of cities that have gone "over the top," sixteen of its cities having reported full quotas or more. Ohio alone has a better record. In that state twenty-two cities have raised their quotas.

Indiana cities which have reported in full include Jeffersonville, Columbus, Crown Point, Princeton, Linton, Howe, Laporte, Lawrenceburg, Bloomington, Tell City, Greencastle, Scottsburg, Rockport, Richmond and Bluffton.

A. R. CHENOWETH AND PARTY RETURN FROM 10,000 MILE AUTO TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Chenoweth and son and daughter, Truman McCamack and Mrs. H. A. Sherrill and daughter, Miss Geraldine, returned Friday night, from an extensive auto trip through the west and Canada. They left Greencastle July 28 going by the northern route which included points of interest in Calgary and Alberta, Canada, British Columbia, Yellowstone Park, Idaho, Oregon and State of Washington. Going down the coast they visited points in California.

Returning by the southern route, they visited points in Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, Missouri and Illinois. The mileage of the trip was 9,960 miles.

During the entire trip they experienced only three punctures, two of the tires making the entire trip on Indiana air. The spare tire which was carried for emergency was not used on the trip.

One of the finest and most interesting places visited by them was Baniss and Kootenay Parks. Baniss Park is in Alberta, Canada and Kootenay Park is in British Columbia. The two parks join making it 108 miles long.

Near Springfield, Illinois, Mr. Chenoweth had a slight accident when his car collided with a Maxwell touring car driven by an old man. Mr. Chenoweth's car was only slightly damaged. A fender and axle were bent and the bumper which prevented a more serious accident was slightly bent. They were able to continue on their way home.

Mr. Sherrill left the party in Colorado about a week ago, being called home by the serious illness of his mother, Mrs. Mary Sherrill who resides near Belle Union.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS MONDAY SEPTEMBER 17

OPEN SEASON FOR HUNTING MIGRATORY FOWL BEGINS NEXT WEEK—PROVISIONS OF TREATY SHOW THAT HUNTING IS RESTRICTED TO THREE AND A HALF MONTHS—SQUIRREL SEASON CLOSING DECEMBER 1

The open season for hunting wild Ducks, Geese, Brant and other migratory game birds opens on September 16th, according to the regulation of the United States Department of Agriculture, which has charge of enforcement of the provisions under the treaty with Great Britain.

Due, however, to the 16th falling on Sunday the season will not open in this State until Monday, September 17, says George N. Mannfeld, chief of the fish and game division of the state conservation department because Sunday hunting in Indiana is prohibited by state laws.

A digest of the migratory bird treaty, Mr. Mannfeld points out shows that hunting in either country is restricted to three and one half months and to certain birds no hunting except in especially named localities from March 10 to September 1. This prevents he says, shooting in the spring when the birds are migrating northward. The hunting seasons are arranged for after September 1 and start in Canada and northern and central states which include Indiana, on or after September 1, lasting for three and a half months from the opening date.

Indiana game laws make it an offence to hunt any kind of game except rabbits and water fowls (ducks, brant and geese after December 2, which accounts for an earlier closing date on some migratory game birds given in the table of open and closed seasons and bag limits per day as follows:

Duck (except wood ducks) September 16 to December 31—both dates include; bag limit, 15.
Geese and brant, September 16 to December 31; limit 8.
Woodcock, October 1 to November 30, limit 6.

Black bellied plover, September 16, to December 30; limit, 15.
December 20, limit 15.
Yellow legs, September 16 to December 30, limit 25.
Wilson legs, September 16 to December 30, limit 25.

Coot, September 16 to December 20, limit, 25.
Gallinule, September 16 to December 20, limit 25.
Rail, September 1 to November 30, limit 25.

Sora rail, September 1 to November 30; limit, 50.
Open season for squirrel in Indiana is from August to December 1; rabbits from April 1 to January 10.

GIANT STILL AND EQUIPMENT TAKEN BY SHERIFF POSSE

TWENTY THREE BARRELS OF MASH, 100 GALLONS OF LIQUOR, AND 150 GALLON CAPACITY LIQUOR MAKING OUTFIT FOUND ON FARM IN FLOYD TOWNSHIP—WILLIAM ABBOTT ARRESTED—FARM OWNED BY GREENWOOD MAN

A giant still of 150 gallon capacity, 23 barrels of mash, about 100 gallons of illicit liquor, a Studebaker Special 6 automobile were taken and William Abbott, was arrested, Friday night, by Sheriff Leslie Sears and deputies on the 67 acre farm known as the old Pickett farm, now owned by T. S. Snedegar of Greenwood, Indiana.

The still, which is by far the largest ever found in this county is said by the officers to have been most completely equipped. It was found in the house on the farm. No one has been living in the house it is said.

It is said that he drove a heavily loaded truck when he left the farm. It is believed that the truck carried many gallons of illicit liquor.

A search of the house by the officers resulted in the finding of the still, liquor and mash and all other equipment necessary to distill liquor. The still was dismantled and together with the other equipment, mash and liquor, was loaded on a truck and brought to Greencastle.

The officers then hid near the farm house and awaited developments. It was about 2:30 o'clock Saturday morning, that two men in a Studebaker car, drove up to the farm house. The officers immediately closed in on the men, but one of them, supposed to be a son of Snedegar, ran and escaped in the darkness. William Abbott, however, was arrested. An ownership card in the car showed it to be the property of T. S. Snedegar of Greenwood. The car was confiscated. Warrants for the arrest of Snedegar and his son have been issued.

The tonneau of the car was filled with empty jugs, evidently taken to the farm to be filled with liquor. Abbott refused to talk to the officers and they have been unable to get any statement regarding the still or its operations from him.

It is said that Snedegar only recently purchased the farm, the actual transfer of the property being made in July. The farm is in Floyd township, about a mile south of the Ocean to Ocean highway and a half mile west of Floyd township Center School house.

Snedegar has made many trips to and from the farm. He disguised the real purpose of his truck it is said by hauling several crates of chickens each time he left the farm.

FARMERS TOLD NEW WAY TO STOP STINKING SMUT

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Sept. 15.—A new method for the control of stinking smut of wheat which was specially had in many sections of Indiana this year causing damage of 10 to 15 cents a bushel in a few places, is being recommended to Hoosier farmers now by the Agricultural Extension Department of Purdue University. It is what is known as the copper carbonate method and is said to be considerably better than the formaldehyde way which has been used extensively in other years over Indiana at the suggestion of the university and county agricultural agents. The new way of treating was outlined as follows by Dr. C. T. Gregory of the botany division.

Use two or three ounces of copper carbonate powder for each bushel of seed. Sprinkle the seed with the powder and then mix thoroughly by pouring the wheat back and forth three or four times between two tubs. This system will cover each seed with a thin film of the powder which will kill the smut spores on the wheat. Moreover, the copper carbonate powder in the seed will kill any spores that may get on the seed from infected bags. This treatment needs no water and the seed may be put in the sack immediately and kept as long as necessary without danger of injury. This treatment is good favor stinking smut alone but is worthless to control "Blackheads" or loose smut.

Reports received at Purdue from Howard county were that many farmers were docked from 10 to 15 cents a bushel on an already low priced crop because of the prevalence of this disease which shrivels the wheat kernels. Many fields in Hancock county also were reported infested and similar reports came from widely scattered areas over the state.

"Any farmer whose wheat is infested with stinking smut cannot afford to take chances with this disease on next year's crop as infection this year means infection of next, unless treating of the seed is done this fall before sowing time," said Dr. Gregory.

TRACE WORLD WAR TO SERB COLONEL

AFTERWARD LOST HIS LIFE

Lieut.-Col. Dragutin Dimitrijevitich, former leader of the military party in Serbia and chief opponent of the civilian group led by Premier Nicholas Pashitch in the summer of 1914, was the principal character in the plot which resulted in the murders of Sarajevo on June 28, 1914, that started the world-wide conflagration, according to Prof. Stanoyevitch of the University of Belgrade, who has written a pamphlet, "The Murder of Archduke Franz Ferdinand: A Contribution to the History of the Origin of the World War."

Professor Stanoyevitch says that his information was obtained from statements made by persons in close touch with the situation at the time of the murder. His charge cannot be denied by Dimitrijevitich himself, as the latter was court-martialed and shot in 1917; nor can Major Voyislav Tankozitch, the right-hand man of Dimitrijevitich, be called as a witness, as he fell in action early in the war.

The Serbian professor's pamphlet, just translated into German and published in Frankfurt, confirms the generally accepted theory that the Serbian government knew nothing about the plot, something admitted even by the leading Austrian statesmen; but it goes further and gives a plausible explanation of what nerved the arm of Gavrilo Princip, the boy slayer of Franz Ferdinand and his wife, Hermann Wendel, a German writer well acquainted with Balkan politics, in summarizing Professor Stanoyevitch's work, says:

"In order to make plausible the situation among the Serbs from which developed the thought of killing the most visible representatives of the Danube monarchy, he outlines with spare strokes a century and a half of Serbian, indeed of South Slavic, development, and shows how the holding down of an elementary popular movement by the dynastic selfishness of the Hapsburgs was bound to exercise an evil, poisonous effect upon the minds of the masses.

"Of course, it was only among the revolutionary youth of the South Slavic part of Austria-Hungary where the ferment of action was working, for two successful, but also costly, wars had inspired all circles of the kingdom of Serbia with a desire for the longest possible peace. This desire was shared by the officers' corps, in which, since the murder of Alexander and Draga Obrenovitch in 1903, some symptoms inimical to the peaceful development of the state had shown themselves.

Enter the Leader.
"Partly for the protection of their persons and partly also for the safeguarding of their personal interests, the officers participating in the conspiracy later formed an organization that more than once sought to influence the course of domestic politics. But the more the new conditions became firmer, through the development of democratic institutions, and the more the attempts at interference by this unconstitutional factor were resisted by the bourgeoisie, the more the conspirators retreated to the background of the stage of politics.

"But when the annexation crisis was working mightily upon the souls of all Serbs, the officer-conspirators of 1903 got into action. Because they regarded the patriotic society 'Narodna Odbrana,' which arose in connection with the annexation crisis, as of a purely cultural nature, a number of them in 1911 founded the secret league 'Ujedinjenje ili Smrt' (Unity or Death), which soon had 300 members. It was modeled on the Italian Carbonari societies, and, quite in the style of old-fashioned conspiratorial romanticism, strove to solve the Serbs' national problem through revolutionary means and acts of terror.

"At the head of this league stood a man who seemed created to be a conspirator. As a twenty-seven-year-old Captain Dragutin Dimitrijevitich had, through his energy on the occasion of making away with the last of the Obrenovitchs, removed an unexpected obstacle from the road. Since then the gifted and educated officer, who in the meantime had advanced to lieutenant-colonel on the general staff, had remained the same restless character. An honest man, a fiery patriot, but also filled with stormy ambition, passionately in favor of secret, underground activities, dogmatic and not free from vanity, he exercised his fascinating power over the younger officers in particular. His most devoted comrade was Major Voyislav Tankozitch, who, under a quiet and mild exterior, concealed an unbridled and undisciplined nature and who, as a leader of roving bands in Macedonia, had displayed reckless courage. About political affairs, about the real needs of a state, they both had only faint and vague conceptions, but Dimitrijevitich was very determined in carrying out what he had in his head.

"After the meeting of Franz Ferdinand and Wilhelm II in Knipshut, Dimitrijevitich, then chief of the information division of the general staff, received news from the Russian general staff to the effect that the Hapsburger and the Hohenzollern, there by the blossoming roses, had agreed upon an attack by Austro-Hungary upon Serbia, with German backing. Reports that he received from confidential men on the other side of the border about the coming maneuvers in Bosnia strengthened his conviction that these military exercises were to form the immediate prelude to the planned attack.

Plotting the Murder.
"Longer deliberation caused him to reach the conclusion that only the removal of the Austro-Hungarian heir apparent, whom he regarded as the chief war propagandist, could save his unprepared and weary fatherland from the horrors of invasion and defeat. The idea of violence no longer frightened him, for several months before he had already agreed with a Bulgarian revolutionary committee upon an unexecuted attack upon Ferdinand of Coburg, and he had also once before sent a former leader of lawless bands to Vienna for the purpose of murdering Franz Josef or Franz Ferdinand.

"The course of events so willed it that just as he was considering the translation of his thoughts into acts two young men from Bosnia with the same intention came to see Major Tankozitch and ask him for advice and aid. With his customary determination, Dimitrijevitich took charge of the matter, had the Bosnians instructed in the use of arms by Tankozitch and then sent them to Sarajevo. On June 15 the colonel revealed to a meeting of the executive committee of the organization 'Unity or Death' what was going on, giving expressly as the reason for his action the necessity of preventing an attack upon the homeland by the big neighbor. If German war guilt philologists have all too innocently explained the war by Austro-Hungary upon Serbia as 'Prophylaxis Against the World War,' in Dimitrijevitich's way of thinking the murder of Franz Ferdinand was 'Prophylaxis Against the Austro-Serbian War.'

"But none of the members of the executive committee, except Tankozitch, would have anything to do with the deed planned, and they implored Dimitrijevitich to abandon his project. He promised to do so, and 'it appears,' says Stanoyevitch, 'that he made such an attempt, but either it was too late or the plotters in Sarajevo would not obey him. Things took their fatal course.'

"But if Dimitrijevitich, as the principal organizer of the attack, was not the very highest, but still was a high officer in an important post, the very fact of his guilt testifies to the complete innocence of the Serbian government. After both Balkan wars the victorious officers' corps, and above all the 'Unity or Death' society, had become somewhat presumptuous and was striving for influence upon political matters. Especially in the newly-won territory, in south Serbia, there were violent clashes between the military and civilian authorities. An order establishing the superiority of the civilian power had to be recalled under pressure of the secret league, and in the summer of 1914 Pashitch, the leader of the civil government, and Dimitrijevitich, chief of the military party, were facing each other as bitter, irreconcilable opponents.

"The conflict continued during the war, and in the spring of 1917 Dimitrijevitich was court-martialed—on a charge of having organized on the Saloniki front an attempt to murder Alexander, the heir to the throne, and to proclaim a military dictatorship—condemned to death and shot in June."

HISTORIC PISTOL FOUND

Firearm Is Estimated to Be at Least 200 Years Old.

A brass flintlock pistol, said to be more than 200 years old, was thrown up by a dredge in the Cowlitz river at Longview, Wash., and discovered by A. N. Thorndike.

The pistol was in perfect state of preservation with the exception of the handle, which was rotted off. The weapon was untarnished and unstained and bore upon one side a London trade mark. On the other side was a crest, consisting of a crown set above a crossed sword and gun. The gun was sent to a Portland gunsmith who estimated that it had been made more than 200 years ago. It is now on its way to London where it is hoped, some clue may be found as to its age, the former owner and something of the history surrounding it.

Philadelphia Mint Turns Out 83,121,000 Pieces in 1922.

The Philadelphia mint turned out 79,221,000 pieces of domestic coin with a face value of nearly $92,000,000 and 3,900,000 pieces for Peru and Nicaragua in the fiscal year ended June 30.

Most of the year's work, numerically, consisted of 58,704,000 standard silver dollars, struck to replace those melted to provide bullion for the use of England in the East Indies. Other coinage included 1,507,000 gold double eagles, 538,000 dimes, 12,049,000 nickels and 1,431,000 pennies.

The coinage for Peru included 1,000,000 one sol silver pieces and 2,000,000 nickel five centavos. For Nicaragua the output was 500,000 one centavos and 400,000 half centavos.

CENSUS FIGURES SHOW INCREASE IN DIVORCES

Ratio Compared With Marriages Up 50 Per Cent in Six Years.

Washington.—A sharp increase in the last six years in the ratio of divorces to marriages is disclosed in preliminary reports for 1922, announced by the census bureau. Computation is made for half a dozen northeastern states, the first for which figures have been completed in a nation-wide survey.

The 1922 ratio was almost half again as large as it was in 1916, there having been almost 9.3 divorces to each 100 marriages in 1922, compared with almost 6.3 in 1916.

Analysis of the statistics for the six states shows the number of marriages in 1922 were one-eighth less than in 1916, while the number of divorces was almost one-third more. The states covered in the report were New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Jersey and Delaware.

Marriages in these states in 1922 numbered 80,883, as compared with 92,531 in 1916, and divorces 7,513, compared with 5,793. There was a decrease of 11,648 marriages in the states, or about 12 1/2 per cent, while divorces increased 1,720 in number, or almost 30 per cent.

There was an increase in the number of marriages in only one of the six states—New Hampshire. There was a decrease in the number of divorces in Vermont, but the ratio of divorces to the number of marriages showed an increase in that state as it did in the other five states in which divorces increased in number.

Reds Printing Millions of "Propaganda" Books

Bucharest.—Figures received here summarizing the activities of the publishing business in Russia, which is purely an enterprise of the soviet state, indicate that a great effort is being made to convince the Russian people of the correctness of Bolshevik political, social and economic theories.

The soviet publishing house issued from its presses in Moscow and put into circulation throughout Russia during the last 12 months no less than 14,500,000 volumes covering the field of economics, politics, history and even fiction.

Aside from the obvious propaganda tendencies of the volumes on political and economic subjects, the soviet historians have sought to show how the world has suffered because of its hostility to Bolshevik doctrines, and in many of the fiction volumes the endeavor has been to prove that opposition to soviet doctrines has warped, limited or distorted individual lives.

Hasty Conclusion Loses Paris Doctor Fat Fee

Paris.—A Paris surgeon is telling a good story on himself. He was called in to operate on an American woman for appendicitis, and when the cure was complete the patient, seeking to show her gratitude in some way that was not too commonplace, embroidered a cigar case and took it to the surgeon.

Unfortunately the surgeon had just had a run of patients who had paid for his services by presents of little intrinsic value, so he could not help saying, "No, really, madam, take away such rubbish; a 1,000-franc note would be much more acceptable."

"All right," said the American woman, and opening the cigar case she drew a 1,000-franc bill from it, laid it on the table, and said coolly, "There were five others like it in the case."

Old Sailing Vessels Puzzle Modern Mariners

Norfolk, Va.—The reappearance of the Levitation on the high seas caused many an "old salt" to reflect on the passing of the American sailing ship which has now virtually disappeared. The modern mariner, however, knows as little about the old-time sailing vessels as the flapper knows about her great-grandmother's spinning wheel.

The sailors at their seagoing school here are familiar with nautical terms and can quote the nomenclature of a modern oil-burner from bow to stern. But when an examiner asked them to name the seven masts of a sailing vessel, only a few could recall the names offhand.

Fore, main, mizzen, pusher, driver, jigger and spanker are the names in order, running fore and aft, of a seven-masted ship. Some authorities give them the names of forecastle, fore, main, mizzen, jigger, spanker or driver and after masts. Others compromise by naming them from bow to stern after the days of the week, beginning with Sunday.

Child Marriages Many but Few Endure Long

Child marriages in the United States are increasing at an alarming rate.

Statistics show that 15,000 boys and 1200 girls less than 15 years old are married. The average life of infant marriages is only a few years, and more often a few months, according to a study by A. N. Farmer of the University of Chicago.

Industrial Greencastle GARDNER BROTHERS

THE growth of the business of Gardner Brothers, manufacturers of ice, ice cream and bottlers of mineral waters reflects local conditions. The business started from small beginnings and has gradually grown to one of the large concerns of the community.

In 1904, Gardner Brothers took over the ice cream manufacturing business made famous by their father and to this added the manufacture of artificial ice and the bottling of mineral waters. The ice plant then installed was small; later it was enlarged and then enlarged again to meet the increasing demands. At present, a great plant of thirty tons capacity daily is used to serve the public.

Gardner Brother's ice cream is locally famous and is extending the fame of its goodness to other parts. In the month of August more than 7,000 gallons of ice cream and nearly 1,000 gallons of sherbet went out to the trade from this busy place.

This firm has the exclusive right to bottle Coca Cola in this and part of adjoining counties and is now bottling fully three hundred cases daily of this and other charged waters.

No firm in the community give more hours of personal attention to its business than Gardner Bros., and it is predicted by those who know that this is accountable for the present success and the glowing future of this business.

The First National Bank, with its sixty years of service in the community urges the use of locally made products.

Walnuts in Bulgaria.
The walnut in Bulgaria is almost indispensable to the housewife. The nut is eaten in the raw state and used for producing a cooking oil. The meats are salted, fried in a pan and then pressed with a rolling pin. Jam is made from the green walnuts and large quantities are used in the production of a very potent brandy.

Are the Laziest People.
Probably the laziest people in the world are the Svantians, who live in the inaccessible mountain range between the Black and Caspian seas. They have made no advance toward civilization in 2,500 years. It is their invariable rule to observe holidays four times a week, with saints' days as extras.

The Fast Runner.
The antelope or pronghorn is the swiftest runner on the continent, says Nature Magazine. He lives on the open plains, depending upon his eyes, his nose, and his swift legs for protection. These have failed him as the country has settled up. He cannot survive wire fences and modern firearms.

Chinks.
Are we Americans becoming more honest? Chinese Free Masons seem to think so. At their outing in New York they take their watches along, though white men are invited as guests. The Hip Sings recently have been leaving their watches at home when they invited white men along.

There's Only One Method.
When a woman has something to say and is determined to say it, the only thing to do is to let her talk. Words to a woman are as steam to a boiler, and no man can control her mind until she has talked off the lid.—From "Black Oxen," by Gertrude Atherton.

Wife Always Late.
Guide (in Yellowstone)—"Now, ladies, this phenomenon occurs every three minutes. Maybe you'd like to look down into the geysers before the next eruption." Mr. Smithers (calling to wife)—"Not you! It's just like you to be late."—Wisconsin Octopus.

Straight Thinking.
Clear, straight thinking is needed today more than anything else. Loose and misdirected thought cannot lead to logical conclusion. Such thought results in a "deadlock" in our own heads which nobody but ourselves can break.

Watch Big Things.
Too many people devote so much attention to little things that they have no time for the big things of life. They lack a proper estimate of true values, a deficiency that they can overcome if they will honestly endeavor to do so.

Snaffle Bit Painful.
A four-rein bit is known as a snaffle bit and is used ordinarily only on the snaffle. If a quick stop is desired, the curb can be pulled, thus bringing the horse up immediately, as it is more painful and powerful.

Can You Beat It?
Three old maid sisters live on a farm in the West, and all of them are toothless. They bought one pair of false teeth and whichever one comes to town to do the trading wears them.

A Seedy Complexion.
A lad, two and one-half, while out walking, saw a small boy with freckles all over his face. He said, "Oh, mother, look at the boy with tomato seeds on his face."

Flower Decorations on a Liner.
Ten thousand flowering plants and ferns of various kinds are used every year for the decoration of the public rooms on one of the big transatlantic liners.

Old Dugouts Found.
Ingenuously designed prehistoric dugouts used by cavemen in escaping from or resisting the attack of their enemies have been found in France.

Water for Jordan Plain.
Canals to irrigate the Plain of Jordan, round the Dead sea, are proposed; wide areas covered with fertile soil could then be cultivated.

Fool Question.
T. B. asks: "Is a man always contented with his lot if he has a dream house on it?" No, there also must be a garage.

The Wise Man.
It sometimes happens that the world thinks a man is wise because he doesn't take the trouble to explain his mistakes.

Arabs First to Tame Horses.
The Arab horse is said to be the oldest existing domestic breed. Its records can be traced back for 13,000 years.

A Ponderous Query.
Another problem is whether an elephant takes the peanut on his own account or just to please the child.

THE RAILROADS PUT THEIR SHOULDER TO THE WHEEL

The railroads of the nation, confronted with the task of handling the heaviest traffic in their history have pledged themselves as a unit, to a program of concerted and co-operative action involving the expenditure of millions of dollars and having for its object the production of a transportation service which will adequately meet the country's growing needs.

Over a billion dollars will be put into new yards, terminals, shops and running tracks, while millions have already been appropriated for the purchase of additional cars and locomotives. Intensive efforts are being made to derive from equipment and facilities now available the largest measure of efficient service.

The Pennsylvania Railroad System, handling 17% of the passenger traffic and 12% of the freight traffic of the country is working shoulder to shoulder with the other roads in carrying out its part of the program.

Over $75,000,000 is being spent by the Pennsylvania in improvements and additions, including $52,000,000 for new engines and cars alone. Before the end of the year the total improvement expenditures may reach or pass the $100,000,000 mark.

The entire System is being groomed to provide a transportation service which will satisfactorily meet the most exacting requirements of its patrons. The earnest co-operation and support of the traveling and shipping public will greatly assist the railroad in attaining this end.

Prosperous Railroads

A Public Necessity

FOR a generation or more the Pennsylvania Railroad paid its stockholders six per cent, and nearly always had something substantial to put back into the property out of earnings. In good years it followed the rule of a dollar for dividends and a dollar for property. It was a good sound rule and if it had not been followed for so many years that great property would never have attained to its present splendid development.

The chief need of the times is to bring back railroad prosperity once more. That means the restoration of railroading to the plane of a profit-making industry, in order that it may again attract adequate capital for the proper expansion of lines and facilities. For the present a real politically is the most urgent requirement in that direction.

Prosperous railroads, efficiently operated, are a public necessity and the railroads need only the opportunities that are freely accorded to other forms of enterprise to resume their old position of leadership in the progress and advancement of the country.

Mr. Hunter will move to the Coffin property and Mr. Coffin will move to the Hunter property which is now occupied by Mrs. Smitz and Mrs. Smitz will move to the property which Mr. Hunter vacates. PROVES AMERICA ONCE JOINED ASIA

Asiatic Expedition Establishes
Existence of Land Connection
—Discovers Fossil Field.

Washington.—In a report just received from Peking, Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of the Third Asiatic Expedition of the American Museum of Natural History of New York, declares the existence of a land connection between Asia and North America has unquestionably been established and hundreds of years of work will be required to exhaust the huge deposits in "one of the world's greatest fossil fields."

Beyond Their Hopes.

Mr. Andrews' letter says: "The first month of the expedition's work is far beyond our hopes. Where we expected only fragments we have discovered an immense deposit of large and small dinosaur bones. It will require many months to exhaust this region, but we have removed two partially complete skeletons and parts of several others. This includes herbivorous dinosaurs, 30 feet long, of the iguanodon type and smaller carnivorous species. These bones are at least 5,000,000 years old, but beautifully preserved.

"They probably are related to European types, and with our former work indicate that Central Asia is the ancestral home of the dinosaurs which migrated to Europe and America.

"We have discovered a skull of a giant rhinoceros—like the beast known as the titanothere—which, although it has been buried for 3,000,000 years, is almost as perfect as though the animal had died a week ago. The titanothere was previously only known in America.

Deposits Full of Interest.

"We have found also remains of a giant dog-like carnivore, as well as many teeth and jaws of an ancestral tapir-like animal. We could spend easily a year's time in these great deposits, but will give them only enough time to get a few of the choicest things.

"The expedition's belief that Mongolia is one of the world's greatest fossil fields is thoroughly confirmed. It will require a hundred years of work by many expeditions to exhaust these huge deposits.

"Our original theory of a Central Asian center of dispersal of the mammalian life of Europe and America is receiving more proof every day. The existence of a land connection between Asia and North America has unquestionably been established.

"The expedition will proceed westward into the Central Gobi desert. We expect to investigate areas which we located last summer and to explore new regions south of the Altai mountains toward Chinese Turkestan and far to the west."

British Lead in Ships That Pass Suez Canal

London.—The number of ships and their net tonnage that passed through the Suez canal in 1922 totaled 4,345 and 20,745,245 respectively. The receipts amounted to 106,556,537 francs (about $10,345,105 at the present rate of exchange).

The canal company's books for 1922, just balanced, show that vessels flying the British flag headed the list, numbering 2,736, or 63 per cent, with a gross tonnage of 18,425,942. The Dutch were next with 455 vessels, or 10.5 per cent, their gross tonnage being 2,084,013. Third on the numerical list is Italy with 225 vessels, equal to 5.2 per cent, with a gross tonnage of 1,189,359, but France, with 215 vessels, or 4.9 per cent, has the highest gross tonnage of 1,406,121. The German flag was borne by 149 vessels, or 3.4 per cent, with a gross tonnage of 1,031,424.

Japanese Skipper Is Found Dead at Wheel

San Diego, Cal.—Steering erratically in a circle twenty-five miles off the harbor here, and, failing to answer hails from other craft, the Japanese fishing boat Fuso was overhauled by another Japanese boat and the skipper, O. Tomann, found dead.

Tomann, the only person aboard, was found slumped to one side, his body leaning to one side, which caused the Fuso to steer about in a circle, as the gasoline engine of the boat was operating full power.

Physicians declared death was due to heart trouble.

Secret Drawers Yield $7,335 in Old Bureau

Manchester, England.—A combined Sheraton bureau and bookcase, which was bought from a dealer recently by the wife of a Manchester Corporation official for $100, has yielded up from secret drawers several bonds and probate of a will relating to property of the value of $7,335.

The dealer had indicated the location of two secret drawers but investigation by the purchaser brought to light three more secret recesses.

The will is dated November, 1903, and is drawn up by Mrs. Sarah Kershaw, No. 15 Meadow street, Moss Side, Manchester. A Manchester Corporation bond for $100, redeemable next month, and a Stockport Corporation bond for $200 was discovered.

All in an Egg.
Two dyspeptic persons were discussing the diet that had made them what they were. "You ought to eat more eggs," said one. "Eggs are the most nutritious food you can get. The egg is what becomes the chicken and in addition it supplies the chicken's food up to the time it is hatched." "I dunno," observed the other sourly. "Did you ever see a fresh hatched chicken that looked strong and rugged and capable of a hard day's work?"—The Argonaut.

Artificial Diamonds.
By mixing paraffin spirit, bone oil distillate and metallic lithium in a powerful cast-iron tube and heating the compound in a reverberatory furnace, an English chemist has obtained artificial diamonds identical in composition with the original gem as dug from the mines. But the process is long and costly, while the diamonds resulting are so tiny that mine stones of the same size can be bought for a quarter of the money.

Prayer in a Mine.
Daily prayer services are held in the mines of the Valler Coal company, near Duquoin, Ill. There each morning, before the men go to their work, a short prayer service is held at the bottom of the shaft, while the miners stand reverently with uncovered heads. The miners themselves conduct the prayer service, sometimes as many as six of them taking part.—Exchange.

Admiral of New England.
"Admiral of New England" was a title given Capt. John Smith, the Virginia settler, by the Western Company for North Virginia by reason of his explorations along the New England coast. It was at Smith's solicitation that Prince Charles gave the name "New England" to a portion of the new world.

Cleans Enamel Tub.
To clean an enamel bath which has become discolored, take a soft cloth, dip it in turpentine and rub the bath. Polish with a duster. Enamel baths may also be cleansed with kerosene. They should be well washed out afterward with hot water and soda to remove the smell of the kerosene.

Gold and White Favorites Colors.
Old England is rich in gold and yellow flowers, and they outnumber those of any color except white. In one reckoning it was found that there are about 240 yellow flowers out of 900 flowering plants, about 150 red, 200 purple, and fewer than 100 blue ones.

Fossil of Ginkgo Leaf.
A remarkable fossil of the ginkgo leaf, the estimated age of which is 1,000,000 years, was found recently in Spokane, Wash. But one species of ginkgo is to be found in this day in China and Japan. It is also known as the maiden-hair fern tree.

The Powder Puff Swan.
The best powder puff swans are made from the down of the young swan or cygnet. The principal supply comes from Norway and about 40,000 birds are killed yearly for the purpose and the price has risen steadily.

Unusual Conduct.
From a story—"Do you know, Robert," he said amiably as he struck a meditative match. "Our observation has been that matches when struck are usually snappy and hotheaded."—Boston Evening Transcript.

Do You Know That—
When you speak of anyone being "jovial" you are making use of a word which takes its name from the Greek god, Jove, or Jupiter? It is said that it is very lucky to be born under the planet Jupiter.

Distrust of Banks Costs Him Savings

Because he did not have confidence in banks and hid $500 in a milk bottle which he placed in the barn, John Less, a farmer of near Monroe, N. Y., has less money than he had.

The barn was burned and the hard-earned money was lost, together with the contents of the barn.

A short time before, Less had placed $75 in the kitchen stove, and his wife, not knowing of this, started a fire and the money burned.

Will Erect Monument to Col. Roosevelt in Cuba

New York.—A monument is to be erected to Theodore Roosevelt in the city of Santiago de Cuba to commemorate his part in Cuba's fight for freedom, according to an announcement made at the national headquarters of the Roosevelt Memorial association. The project is in charge of a committee of the Rough Riders' association, backed by the Roosevelt Memorial association and the Rotary club of Santiago.

The monument will take the form of an over-life-size bust of Colonel Roosevelt as a Rough Rider, set on a granite pedestal. The bust is now being modeled by James Earle Fraser, the famous sculptor, whose statue of Alexander Hamilton on the steps of the Treasury department in Washington was recently unveiled by President Harding. A site for the monument has already been selected by a committee of distinguished citizens of Santiago at a prominent point of the boulevard leading from the city to San Juan hill. "The monument in Santiago," said Colonel Greenway, who made the announcement, "will commemorate the day that Colonel Roosevelt himself regarded as the greatest day of his life. Shortly after the battle he stated that he would rather have led the charge up San Juan hill than to have served three terms in the United States senate. He frequently remarked in later years that the battle of San Juan hill had made him President."

Mother's Stocking Loses $2,400 Saved by Twins

New York.—Marjorie and Thelma White, sixteen-year-old twins, made a big hit in dancing and singing with Fred Stone in "Tip Top," which just ended a long season on the road. The White twins were accompanied by their mother, Mrs. Harry White of 300 Broadway.

The mother and daughters went through the trying experience of being snowbound for three days last February on the Montana prairies with the "Tip Top" company, after which Fred Stone, comedian, embraced religion in Butte. The twins witnessed the conversion.

Mrs. White is a frugal woman and while the company was on the road she laid aside $2,400, which she pinned in her stocking.

When Mrs. White, with her twins, reached the theater for the evening performance she felt a pin sticking in her leg below the knee. It was a safety pin used to attach the $2,400 in large bills to her garter. The pin got loose and the season's hard-earned profits were lost.

"Don't cry, mother; we can earn more money," said Marjorie with a smile as her mother bemoaned the loss.

Pigeon Flies at Rate of 1,097 Yards Minute

Boston.—A bird from the New York center won the international pigeon race which had its start recently at Midland, Ontario, the American Racing Pigeon club announced. The winning bird, owned by George Bond of New Brunswick, N. J., traveled at the rate of 1,097 yards a minute in returning to its home cote. Montreal center had the next best pigeon, a bird owned by Charbonneau of Montreal, making 1,065 yards a minute.

Many of the 600 pigeons starting in the race were lost, owing to bad weather conditions.

Unemployment on Decrease.
London.—A fall in the number of unemployed in May 14 to 1,100,000 from 1,217,000 in April 30 is considered by officials of the Ministry of labor to be significant as indicating a steady revival in trade.
